Rebuilding the Foundation

- What defines the Christian faith?
- What does it really mean to be a true follower of Christ?
- What are the core beliefs making a Christian a true disciple of Jesus?

Will your children embrace the true faith of their parents?

Most Christians can't answer those questions. And without a clear understanding of what Christianity is, we will struggle to both live out our faith and pass it on to our families and the world around us. Perhaps this reality is what is behind the alarming statistic that shows that most of our teens professing to be Christians will walk away from the church after they leave home and never return to their faith.

Yet that wasn't the case with the early church. By the second century those who called themselves Christians had a clear understanding of who they were, why they were here, and where they were going. In fact, over a period of 200 years the church went from some 25,000 Christ followers in AD 100 to 20 million by AD 300. That is an increase of 800 times! They knew something about passing on the true faith to their families.
